

Dave Faulkner

Dave Faulkner brings deep experience in learning, shaped by a career that has spanned school leadership, entrepreneurship, and executive roles in global companies.

He became a school principal at just 24 and was later recognised as Young Western Australian of the Year for his contribution to education. Dave went on to co-found Education Changemakers, supporting schools and systems to strengthen leadership and improve learning outcomes. EC was ultimately acquired by Go1.

At Go1, Dave served as Senior Vice President of Customer, working with teams around the world to build learning strategies that delivered meaningful impact.

Known for his clarity, energy, and practical perspective, Dave is a sought-after keynote speaker who has shared the stage with some of the world's most influential thinkers in education and human potential, including Sir Ken Robinson, Sugata Mitra, Angela Lee Duckworth, and Sir David Attenborough. He has presented on some of the sector's largest stages, including BETT and EduTECH.

Across his career, Dave has been driven by a commitment to improving access to high-quality learning and leadership development, particularly in education systems serving disadvantaged and diverse communities.

Maddie Scott-Jones

Maddie Scott-Jones is a learning leader with a strong track record of designing professional learning that translates into real-world practice.

She began her career in the classroom before moving into leadership roles at Education Changemakers, focused on supporting teachers, educational leaders, and corporate teams to grow capability and navigate change.

Maddie served as Vice President of Learning Services at Go1, where she led the design and delivery of learning experiences for companies across the globe. Her work is shaped by expertise in strategic planning, learning design, and organisational development, alongside three master's degrees in education and leadership.

Known for her thoughtful approach and sharp judgement, Maddie partners closely with teams to create learning that is purposeful, practical, and built to last.

She has designed learning strategy and delivered programs that drive real capability growth across a range of sectors and contexts - from global corporates like LinkedIn, SEEK, Qantas, and Snap Inc, to schools and systems serving communities that need it most.

Josselyn Leyton

Josselyn Leyton is the person who makes sure everything runs smoothly, and that the people she works with always feel looked after. With a background spanning corporate administration, data and records management, and resident services, Josselyn brings a rare combination of organisational rigour, genuine care for people, and an analytical mind shaped by a degree in Economics.

She has worked across fast-paced environments in Melbourne, from managing complex venue data systems at Tabcorp to supporting residents and families at one of Australia's leading retirement living providers. Along the way, she also volunteered with Education Changemakers.

As part of The Learning Warehouse team, Josselyn is the connective thread between our team and the clients we serve. She keeps projects on track, communication clear, and nothing falling through the cracks.

When she's not keeping TLW's wheels turning, Josselyn is competing in Ultimate Frisbee at international tournaments - a sport that tells you everything you need to know about her commitment, her teamwork, and her ability to stay composed under pressure. She also speaks fluent Spanish.
